Denise White Estate Agent Comments

A charming and characterful three-bedroom mid-terrace home, ideally situated on Queen Street in the sought-after market town of Leek. This delightful property blends a wealth of original features with tasteful modern improvements, creating a warm and inviting home ideal for a range of buyers.

Upon entering, you are welcomed into a spacious dining room featuring an attractive original tiled fireplace, setting the tone for the character found throughout. An inner hallway provides access to the first-floor staircase and leads through to a cosy lounge, complete with a further feature fireplace—perfect for relaxing evenings.

To the rear, the property opens into an extended, galley-style kitchen, finished to a high standard. This space has been thoughtfully designed to offer both style and practicality, with a warm and welcoming feel—ideal for everyday living and entertaining alike.

The first floor hosts two well-proportioned bedrooms. Bedroom one, positioned to the front aspect, benefits from another charming feature fireplace, while bedroom two overlooks the rear and also retains its original fireplace, adding to the home's consistent character. A family bathroom completes this floor.

To the second floor, a useful landing area leads to a versatile room within the eaves—ideal for use as a dressing room or additional storage. Completing the accommodation is bedroom three, a bright room enjoying front-facing views.

This appealing home offers a wonderful balance of period charm and modern comfort, making it an excellent opportunity for those seeking a character property in a convenient and popular location.

Location

Known as the 'Queen of the Staffordshire Moorlands', Leek is a former textile town with a long and fascinating history.

The unspoilt town centre offers a refreshing alternative from modern shopping malls and has a wealth of independent shops, including former silk mills housing antique and reproduction pine centres, as well as traditional and contemporary furnishings.

Delicious local produce can be found in abundance at traditional butchers, bakers, greengrocers, delicatessens and cafes. Leek is also home to speciality producers of condiments, confectionery, preserves, wine, whisky, craft beers and the traditional Staffordshire oatcake.

Traditional markets abound, both indoors in the beautifully restored Victorian Butter Market and outdoors in the Market Place, offering everything from general goods, antiques and collectables to fine foods and special 'Totally Locally' Sunday markets. And when it comes to wining and dining, you can choose from a tempting selection of cafés, real ale pubs and restaurants.

Further afield, you'll find the unique, tooth-like rock formations of The Roaches, Rudyard Lake with its picturesque setting and narrow gauge railway and Tittesworth Water, a popular and accessible attraction for visitors of all ages.
