The Aldwick Bay private estate was created in the late 1920s to provide a safe and tranquil residential setting with access to the privately owned beach. Originally designed to provide city dwellers the perfect coastal escape, the estate has become one of the most desirable areas to reside along this coastal stretch.

The private double glazed front door leads into the welcoming entrance hall, where there is a recessed meter cupboard. The hallway itself has a useful built-in storage cupboard and doors to the kitchen, generous living/dining room, three bedrooms and bath/shower room.

The kitchen has a window to the rear enjoying a pleasant outlook into the delightful, well tended communal gardens and boasts a comprehensive range of fitted units with an integrated oven, hob and hood, fridge/freezer, along with space and plumbing for a washing machine and full size dishwasher and modern wall mounted gas boiler.

The living/dining room is a well proportioned, bright and airy dual aspect room, with feature decorative fireplace and windows to the rear and side, along with French doors to the side (all with bespoke fitted plantation shutters), which provide access to a secluded terrace and garden area.

Bedroom 1 has a window to the front and is a good size double room, while bedrooms 2 and 3, both have widows to the rear, both enjoying the outlook into the southerly communal gardens.

The bath/shower room boasts a white suite of bath, shower enclosure with fitted shower, wash basin and wc.

Externally, the development provides resident's parking, incredibly well tended communal gardens with the apartment itself benefiting from a garage with an electrically operated vertical sectional door at front, power, light and fitted work surface and wall mounted storage cupboards.
