Olive Leaf Lettings are please to offer this first floor, 2 bedroomed flat on the edge of Countesthorpe village.

Countesthorpe is a large village of some 7000 inhabitants set in a parish of over 1200 acres six miles to the south of Leicester. Unlike the vast majority of Leicestershire villages it gets no mention in the Domesday Book but, in spite of this omission, it would have existed albeit as a dependent settlement of Blaby, of which village it remained a chapelry in ecclesiastical terms until 1878. In spite of this dependency a separate parish register was kept from 1562.

The property with its own external entrance staircase is equipped with full electric heating and double glazed windows. You enter the property via the hallway with all rooms leading off as well as ample storage and large lounge.
